NUMBER 267

It is said by the Wisconsin Republicans in Washington, that Hon. Horace Rublee will certainly be appointed minister to some important Court in Europe.

Mr. Seville went out of his way yesterday afternoon to say that Grant and Conkling, and that class of stalwarts, are responsible for the President's assassination, and that Grant was a mere "insane" tool. And even this insane remark drew applause from the ladies present.

The great family of Smiths continue to distinguish themselves. One of them in Pennsylvania the other day succeeded in eating six dozen of raw oysters at one sitting; and on Tuesday night of this week another of the ubiquitous family—Louis P. Smith, captured one burglar in Chicago, fatally wounded another and put a third to flight. Now let the Browns and Joneses rise up and speak.

Miss Kate Kane, the lawyer, who lived in Janesville for a while, and afterwards went to Milwaukee, is seeking a clerkship in Washington. Her law business does not pay, it would appear, and hence her desire to settle down in a clerkship. The Milwaukee Republican suggests that she ought to be given the clerkship of the Senate committee on woman's suffrage.

Exercises commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Daniel Webster were held at Madison in the Assembly chamber, on Wednesday evening. The Rev. Charles Cavanaugh, of Illinois, who represented a Milwaukee district in the Legislature in 1861, delivered the principal address. He was followed by Judge Cole, Colonel Calkins, H. H. Giles, Judge Bryant, and the Rev. C. H. Richards.

Another attempt will be made this winter to change the rate of interest. At present the regular rate is seven, and by an agreement between the parties interested, this may be increased to ten. The bill already introduced seeks to make the legal rate as also the limit, seven per cent. Some members of the Legislature would think their mission had not been fulfilled unless they did some tinkering with the interest question.

Very prominent men do a great many foolish and foolish things which an ordinary business man, with only average intelligence, would not do. William H. Vanderbilt has sued ex-Senator Barnum, of Connecticut, for $700. About nine years ago Mr. Barnum chartered a car to carry some freight from New York to Connecticut, and was run upon a side track after being unloaded, where it has remained ever since. Mr. Barnum holding that the New York Central company should come after its car.

It is said that there is no hope of saving Judge Barron, of St. Croix. He has been ill for a long time, and Lieutenant Governor Fildes says he is past recovery. Judge Barron has had, in some respects, a marked career. He began life with nothing save ambition and a strong will. He became a member of the Legislature years ago, then Judge of one of the northern circuits, then Fifth Auditor of the United States treasury—a place he didn't like and soon resigned—then Speaker of the Assembly in 1873, and finally Judge again of the Eleventh circuit.

The Beloit Free Press appears to think that Mr. Keyes must have some important private business on hand in the Legislature, or he would have resigned his seat in the Assembly and accepted a reappointment as postmaster at Madison. The Free Press could know by this time that whatever there may be in the make-up of Mr. Keyes he is neither a fool nor a knave. He could easily have retained the very comfortable berth in the postoffice building with a good salary had he been disposed to do what any other postmaster in the State would have done, but he acted a better part than that. He was elected to the Assembly by a majority so large that no other Republican in Madison ever approached it, and he felt in honor bound to represent his constituents whether his official head was placed in the basket or not. Those who do not agree with Mr. Keyes in all things, must certainly agree that in this contest, for the post-office he bore the part of a manly man and is entitled to praise therefor.

There is a strong probability that Mr. Lincoln's pension will be increased from $3,000 to $5,000 by the present Congress. The Senate committee are in favor of it, Democrats and all, and of course there will be no opposition to the bill on the floor of either house. It will be a good thing when the pension of Mrs. Lincoln is finally settled. She has been reported to be in straitened circumstances for some years. When President Lincoln was assassinated, he was worth something like $100,000. Judge David Davis, now President of the Senate, was administrator of the Lincoln estate, and after all debts were paid, and a careful estimate made of the value of the property of which the President died possessed, showed that the amount was not much below $100,000, and nearly $50,000 of this was in ready cash. Tad Lincoln died two or three years after the murder of his father, and thus reduced the members of the family to two—Mrs. Lincoln and Robert, the present Secretary of War. With no one to care for but himself, it would seem that the handsome little fortune which was well invested, and an annual pension of $3,000, would be sufficient to keep her above want, but they were not. She adopted an extravagant style of living as she did while in the White House, and in a few years her fortune was gone and her pension unable to meet her demands. It is now hoped that we may hear no more of Mrs. Lincoln's poverty.

Special to the Gazette.

MADISON, January 19.—In the Assembly there was something of a tilt over the reapportionment committee question.

Mr. Price introduced the reapportionment bill, and asked reference to a special committee of eleven. S. W. Pierce backed him. Keyes and Horn wanted nine. After considerable display and oratory on both sides, and mildly sharp passage at arms, Price won, and the bill was so referred.

Mr. Simeon Mills presented his old memorial in the matter of deficiency of $10,000 in his accounts as treasurer of the State Insane Hospital through failure of the bank of Madison ten years ago.

Bills were introduced by Mr. Bowles relating to the admission and discharge of inmates of the Milwaukee Industrial schools.

By Mr. Albert admitting American legion of honor to the benefit of State Insurance laws.

By Mr. Davis, exempting from taxation farm implements and machinery to the extent of one hundred dollars.

By Mr. Bishop providing for numbering of houses, stores, and other buildings in villages.

By Mr. Haben allowing agents of manufacturing establishments in this State to sell without license.

By Mr. Juve exempting from taxation of individuals, all their bonafide indebtedness.

By Mr. Bartlett to amend log lien law.

By Mr. Camichael to require grain-testers, to hold half a bushel.

By Mr. Holehouse to tax church property.

By Mr. Cabanis, for prevention of carrying concealed weapons by children.

By Mr. Huchting allowing the Milwaukee City Assessors an annual salary of $600.

Adjourned till to-morrow.

SENATE.

Senator Simpson offered a report of the legislative committee visiting the State charitable and penal institutions. It is a somewhat lengthy document containing numerous recommendations, among others, that the State Board of Supervision be changed from 5 to 3.

Senator Scott offered a joint resolution for a joint select reapportionment (?) committee of 11 adopted under the suspension of rules.

By Senator Hudd favoring the relief of the United States Supreme court by the organization of immediate (?) courts.

Bills were introduced by Kingston providing for the punishment of parents for the abandonment of their children.

By Senator Scott to organize Price county for judicial purposes.

A communication was received from the Governor concerning the claims of the United States against the State on account of the war tax.

Adjourned.

THE STATE GRANGE.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 18.—The State Grange continued its session to-day. Master C. H. Parker delivered his annual address, in which he made several recommendations to amend some of the present State laws. They will be acted upon to-day. The annual report of the Treasurer showed that the total receipts during the year were $4,322.93; disbursements, $4,002.87; leaving a balance of $320.06 in the treasury. The Secretary's report shows that 121 granges are in existence in the State, having a membership of 3,960. For subordinate granges were organized during the year, and 333 members acquired by initiating. The following officers were elected: Master, C. F. Carr; Beloit; Steward, A. Sprague; Chaplain, L. Brainerd; Treasurer, J. Cochran; Secretary, C. L. Huxley; Gatekeeper, E. Wood; Correspondent, Mrs. C. Sherwith; Executive Committee, C. F. Carr, R. D. Forrest, Trustees, J. E. Williams; State Purchasing Agent, K. Niffin. The grange will conclude its labors to-morrow.

DIREFUL CALAMITY.

Special to the Gazette.

CLINTON, Mo., January 19.—The house of George Smith, at Lewis, burned at three o'clock this morning. He escaped with his daughter, aged 8 years, and a little neighbor girl under each arm, but the remainder of the family were burned to death—Elizabeth, aged 17, Rachel, 13, Ellen, 6, Theodore, 16, and Mrs. Smith, 43. All slept up stairs.

WASHINGTON.

Special to the Gazette.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The Senate passed a bill reappointing Justice Hunt of the Supreme Court, 41 to 15.

KENTUCKY'S HORROR.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 18.—The Courier-Journal furnishes the following, just received from its Lancaster reporter: "This town was shocked this morning by the reception of news of the most horrible tragedy that has ever taken place in Garrard county, or, indeed, in the State of Kentucky. About 7 o'clock a negro man came to town, bringing information that James R. Wilmot, a farmer, living about two miles and a half from Lancaster, near Danville pike, has murdered his wife, mother, and two daughters, and then endeavored to hang himself by hanging himself. Boyle, acting as Coroner, immediately repaired to the scene of the tragedy, accompanied by a large number of people, to gratify their morbid curiosity with a glimpse of the horrible sight. On arrival, several of the nearest neighbors were already found there, but none had dared to touch the dead bodies of the parties named.

The truth of the information was substantiated by the finding of the body of James R. Wilmot hanging in his barn, the dead bodies of Elizabeth Wilmot, his mother, aged 89; Mattie and Mary Wilmot, his daughters, aged 19 and 15 years, lying in their beds, with one awful cut across the neck and blows from a new, sharp ax, found lying on the floor of the room; also the body of Elizabeth Wilmot, his wife, lying on her face on the floor with three or four gashes in her head and back, made with the same death-dealing ax.

REED RECOILS.

He Repudiates the Man Seville.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Charles II. Reed, assistant counsel for Gileau, discontenances in unqualified terms the course of Mr. Seville in dragging political issues into his address to the jury. He has no knowledge of Mr. Seville's intention to do such a thing, and thanks it for the height of folly from the standpoint of efficiency in behalf of the client, and at the same time he regards it as a monstrous outrage upon the gentlemen whose names he has thus dragged into the record in connection with the case. He repudiates all such sentiments, and pretenses that Mr. Conkling, or General Grant, or any one else for the matter, should be held responsible for the act of the assassin. If he had anticipated any such vagary on the part of Seville, he could not have been induced to associate himself with the defense.

BEIGN OF TERROR.

SEATTLE, W. T., January 18.—James Sullivan and William Howard were arrested here to-day on a charge of the murder of George R. Reynolds, a young man whom they waylaid and shot last night.

The prisoners were brought before a magistrate for preliminary examination to-day. Evidence of their guilt is most conclusive.

The feeling was intense, and at the close of the examination a committee of safety forced its way into the court room and, overpowering the officers, took the prisoners. Sullivan and Howard were taken a short distance and hanged. Their bodies were left suspended, and a crowd numbering four hundred then proceeded to the county jail, and, overpowering the guards and breaking down the doors of a cell, took out Benjamin Payne, confined for the murder of Police Officer Sears. He was taken to the place where the bodies of Sullivan and Howard were suspended, and hanged.

The bodies were left hanging some time, and then given over to the coroner. The committee of safety continues its organization, and have issued a notice that persons guilty of highway robbery in the city will, if arrested, receive the penalty of death in a summary manner.

"If you are bilious, take Dr. Pierce's 'Pleasant Purgative Pellets,' the original 'Little Liver Pills.' Of all druggists."

RESCUED FROM DEATH.

The following statement of William J. Conkling, of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for it the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of 1876, I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half dollar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medicines. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. WM. HALL'S BALM FOR THE LUNGS. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when, to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have for three years. "I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs will be induced to take Dr. WM. HALL'S BALM FOR THE LUNGS, and be convinced that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. I have taken two bottles, and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness. My cough has almost entirely disappeared, and I shall soon be able to go to work." Sold by druggists.

The French President at Home.

It is to be remarked of M. Grevy that he is an eminently correct President; he gives his master of the ceremonies far less trouble than M. Thiers. The latter delighted to have a military guard, and to be received by a roll of drums wherever he went. He put on the cross of the Legion of Honor as soon as he came to office, though he was only a grand officer of the army before; he required that ambassadors, on introduction, should make him the three customary bows, as to a sovereign, and he expected that all the honors paid to himself should be rendered to his wife likewise. But then M. Thiers, when he was giving audiences in the morning, kept rushing out of his study every quarter of an hour to spy who were waiting to see him in the ante-rooms. He shook hands with some, scolded others, made straight for any newspaper editor who might be present, giving him precedence over dukes or archbishops, and talking with him pretty audibly in that shrill falsetto of his about the views which he desired the editor to promulgate. When he gave dinners, again, M. Thiers could not be prevailed upon to sit whilst his guests were going through the customary series of courses. His own invariable menu was a cut off of a joint, with some vegetables and a few spoonfuls of jam; and when he had dispatched this fare, which he did in ten minutes, he either frisked about the room or retired into the next one to take a nap. If he lingered longer than usual at the table it was to start some political discussion which made his guests uncomfortable; and all this was very grievous to the master of the ceremonies. Marshal McMahon had served an apprenticeship in court pomp during his Governor-Generalship of Algeria, and under the auspices of the Duchesse de Magenta the etiquette of the Elysee was modeled on that of the Tuileries during the Empire. The servants wore the McMahon liveries of gray, scarlet and silver, with aiglets and powder. There was always an aide-de-camp in full uniform and an officer of the palace guard to attend in the Marshal's ante-room; and the Duchesse herself was constantly attended by one or two ladies-in-waiting. When the President and Duchesse went to the races they and their suite occupied two, sometimes three, carriages, with four horses, which were preceded and followed by outriders; and when they traveled they used the saloon carriages which had been built for the Emperor.

President Grevy neither keeps so much state as the Marshal nor transgresses the minor laws of etiquette so cavalierly as M. Thiers. Before coming to Elysee he has inhabited apartments in the Palace of Versailles, by virtue of his position as President of the Chamber of Deputies; but his style of living was of the simplest, and his attire was that of a country gentleman. He never wore a high hat or gloves. He had a "property" hat, which was kept under his desk in the Chamber ready to hand, in case it became necessary to "cover himself," and thereby to suspend a tumultuous sitting abruptly; but in the streets he wore a wide-awake. He was very fond of strolling about the boulevards for hours at a time, looking into the shop windows; and he was passionately fond of billiards, nor did he care whom he played with. One of his favorite opponents at this game was M. Paul de Cassagnac, with whom he has not an idea in common; but the editor of the Pays and he never exchanged political views while making carroms. Sport, agriculture and music are the topics on which M. Grevy converses with most pleasure; but he is a silent man, who talks no more than is necessary to make the time pass, and he never lets conversation run into argument. When he became President M. Grevy had to give up his wide-awakes and his boulevard strolls, and to moderate his ardor for billiards. His most frequent companion at this game has been of late M. Wilson, who is going to be his son-in-law. M. Grevy, as President, also had to don the broad ribbon of the Legion of Honor, but he did not do this until after much hesitation.

M. Grevy's salary is £32,000, and he probably lives within it. Marshal McMahon, on the contrary, spent a great deal more than his salary; for, besides keeping up a large establishment of servants and many horses and carriages, he entertained a good deal. Did you ever know any person to be ill without inaction of the Stomach, Liver or Kidneys, or did you ever know one who was well when either was obstructed or inactive, and did you ever know or hear of any case of the kind that Hop Bitters would not cure? Ask your neighbor the same question.

MANY MISERABLE PEOPLE drag themselves about with failing strength, feeling that they are steadily sinking into their graves, when, by using Parker's Ginger Tonic, they would find a cure commencing with the first dose, and vitality and strength surely coming back to them. See other column.

MADE FROM HARMLESS MATERIAL, and adapted to the needs of fading and falling hair, Parker's Hair Balm has taken the first rank as an elegant and reliable hair restorative.

MILTON JUNCTION.

—Mr. George Mills, of Oshkosh, came down last week, bringing with him his sick wife, who has been lying at the point of death for some weeks past with inflammatory rheumatism. She rallied somewhat, and he removed her to the home of his parents, in this place, where she could be under the tenderest nursing. The disease has already affected both her brain and heart, and her recovery seems improbable.

—Mr. Earnest Cooley, of Clear Lake, Iowa, arrived here on Saturday with his cousin, Miss Cora Holmes, of Irving Park, Ill., where he has been visiting for some days. They will spend a few days visiting here.

—Charles Button's store is again seen behind the counter at Button's store. His fund of good nature, accommodating ways and unvarying courtesy to all, lends a home feeling to patrons as indispensable to success as the stock in trade.

—The young people trip the light fantastic and whirl through the mazes of the dance, at Morgan's hall, on Wednesday evening of the 17th. A carload of fat cattle and three carloads of hogs on Monday. One car load of hogs were perhaps as fine a lot of hogs as has ever been shipped from Rock county, there were forty-eight hogs bought of a farmer, of Walworth county, that were of the white Chester breed averaging 440 pounds each, without a black spot on the whole lot, more than 21000 pounds of white Chester hogs in three days when 90 per cent of the hogs raised are black or spotted.

—Rev. M. S. Wardner is spending a few weeks in the northern part of the State preaching to some of the destitute churches.

—The tobacco warehouse fever is raging with a good deal of intensity, but just what will be the outcome of it can not now be foretold, but one thing is certain, if persistent and determined agitation will bring the necessary forces into activity to lay the foundation for this growing enterprise, in our village, then it will be done. There is certainly no point within the radius of the tobacco district so well located and adapted as a center for the handling and shipment of this crop as Milton Junction. Already to the north and west of us, bounded by the lake and river, are several miles in extent of pioneer tobacco-growing farms, while to the south and east of us stretch a limitless expanse of rich prairie soil, peculiarly adapted to its culture, destined, if utilized, as the present encouraging outlook indicates, to make this the central market and focus of the tobacco interest in Wisconsin. The question will be our citizens and business men arouse to the necessities of the situation, and locate that interest here, or sleep quietly on and allow a few little flag stations around us to divide up, fritter away, and scatter a business which naturally belongs here, and which, under proper conditions, is capable in a few years of making us at least the third town in Rock county.

BURNS' ANNIVERSARY SUPPER AND BALL.

The Scotchmen and admirers of the poet, Robert Burns, will celebrate his birthday in Janesville, at Cannon's hall, on the 25th inst. Addresses, recitations, songs and dancing will be the order of the evening, and a grand old fashioned time may be expected. Tickets, including supper and ball will be $1.50 per couple. Supper promptly at 9 o'clock. By order of the committee.

The Seeds of Disease.

Most people think bad smells prolific of infection, and carrying and decaying matter generally to be breeders of disease. Some are quite satisfied when the foul air is deodorized, quite unaware that the infective particles may remain the same.

But we must not mistake here. Our success in battling with epidemics will depend on our getting at the exact truth in the case.

Liberia soon becomes the grave of every white man that goes there to stay; but the keenest scent detects nothing of the malaria in the atmosphere.

All may be fragrance and beauty where yellow fever is decimating the population. It was the finest parts of Chicago that were ravaged by scarlet fever, while the other parts were almost exempt. Diphtheria has of late years had proportionally more victims in the mountainous regions of Massachusetts than in Boston and our larger cities.

The fact is, infectious diseases come of germs just as truly as the products of our fields come of the seed sown. These germs are almost infinitely small but their mature plants—they are strictly vegetable—have the power to multiply at an almost infinite rate. Each disease has its own germ. Small-pox cannot come from typhoid germs; nor measles from scarlatina; nor yellow fever from cholera; and so universally. They must come each from its own seed, for science knows of no spontaneous generation.

But the seeds of higher order require good soil and other favoring conditions. It is equally so with the seeds of disease. Their choicest soil is filth, and there is no other favorable condition equal to a depressed state of one's physical system—whether depressed by bad food, impure air, sensual indulgence, long-continued anxiety, fear, watching or undue fasting.—Youth's Companion.

A Natural Curiosity.

One of the natural curiosities of Florida is a subterranean river, which is known as Silver Springs.

It bubbles up in a basin nearly 100 feet deep and about an acre in extent, discharging a stream 60 to 100 feet wide, and extending six or eight miles to the Ocklawaha river. It forms a natural inland port, to which three steamers run regularly from St. John's. The water is so clear that it seems even more transparent than air, and not only the fish that frequent it, but every article on the bottom, can be seen with remarkable distinctness.

In the last fifteen years the State of Louisiana has expended for levees and repairs the sum of $11,765,500.

Honorable Mention

Of all the remedies on earth that will make claim attention, Dr. Thomas' ELECTRIC OIL commands especial mention. For wondrous power to cure disease, its fame there is none can rival. Should There Not Be a Change of Crops?

Over and over again experience has shown that in those districts where a diversified style of agriculture is carried on, the average profits of a series of years are greater than when the producer is dependent on one thing. Noting this, some teachers go on the opposite extreme, and would plant equally of all crops, and follow equally every branch of farming. But we hold that that is as great an error as to follow out too closely the one idea. Just now the agriculturists of the South are getting their annual advice to grow less cotton and more corn. It is even said that the "grangers" have incorporated this advice as one of the leading articles of faith in their Southern creed. But from all we have read and noted, the South with all its love of cotton never had half so much of a drug as some of the Eastern States have had of wheat or corn.

It is the wisest policy for every farmer to have some one leading feature on which to depend that he finds his soil and climate best fitted for, or his market the most encouraging for him to produce. These may possibly fail, and in view thereof other things should be grown which will work in with the others, and bring in something certain when failure comes. Diversification in this case is little more than the principle of insurance, to which every prudent merchant likes to devote a small percentage of his capital; but the percentage is always small—he would not like to devote very much, nor would the farm capitalists devote too much on its insurance crops. The South can grow cotton better than any other part of the world. When there is a good crop it is very profitable, and it is rarely so abundant but there is some profit made. We doubt whether the advice to grow more corn and less cotton is wise, or if wise would ever be taken.

One might as well tell an Iowa man to grow less corn and more wheat or oats. For miles and miles through that State one sees nothing but corn, yet though in any one year it brings but ten cents per bushel, one sees as much the next year as ever. And why? because wheat or oats never does as well, never yields the same profit. It has been shown, by what seems to be a careful average of years, that corn yields in Iowa three-fourths more profit than wheat, and double that of oats. With these facts, which intelligent farmers soon understand, though those with hay-seed merely in their hair do not, it would be idle to tell an Iowa man he must grow less corn, because once in awhile there is an over-stock, and the same principle holds good in cotton culture.—Germantown Telegraph.

Preserving Shingles.

The large number of buildings, the roofs of which the farmer is compelled to keep tight, makes it a question of importance as to how he can best preserve the shingle, and do it at a cost that will make it advisable.

The split and shaved shingle of a hundred years ago, that came from the old growth of pine, was quite a different article from the sawed pine shingle from the sapling pines of to-day. While the former would keep a roof tight thirty or forty years, the latter will keep one tight not much more than one-quarter of that period.

Various methods have been devised to make the shingle of the present day more lasting. Dipping them in hot lime water, or coal tar, is practiced by some, and is found to be very beneficial; but it is very disagreeable work to lay them, and carpenters are not inclined to encourage the practice. Some lime the roofs after the shingles have been laid a year or two. No doubt this is very beneficial to that portion of the shingle that it touches. It is now the practice of some to paint the roofs, as well as the other portions of the buildings. A great variety of paints are used. While some use white lead and linseed oil, others use various kinds of mineral paints with cheap fish oil. Some of these are good, while others are almost worthless.

About thirteen years ago there was a paint made of ground slate, mixed with coal tar, and probably some other substance, which when properly put on, proved to be not only fire proof, but a great preserver of the shingles, keeping them without any perceptible change for more than ten years; but this soon went out of style, if not out of use, probably because it was so much trouble to put it on properly that the work was improperly done. To do the work well, it was necessary to apply this preparation so hot that it would penetrate the shingles, and make a surface as hard as slate stone. Probably the time will come when shingles will be dipped in some material that will not be disagreeable to the carpenters, and yet preserve them from decay.

When this can be done at the mill where the shingles are sawed, and they can go to market all prepared, it will be a step of progress in the right direction, and will meet a want that at present is felt by all owners of buildings.—Massachusetts Ploughman.

—An old pork butcher in Detroit says the prejudice in Europe against American pork arises partly from the fact that hogs fattened on our Indian corn do not make as fine pork as do those of Germany, the Netherlands, France, etc., which are fattened chiefly on peas and buckwheat. With the latter such a condition as "rusty pork" is unknown. As both peas and buckwheat grow rankly in this country, wherever properly cultivated, it may be worth while for some farmer to test the matter. Possibly the oleaginous principle in corn may tend to deteriorating effects in some degree, though that cereal will doubtless continue the principal food for fattening hogs in this country.

—Accustomed as we all are to birds and insects on ladies' hats and bonnets, it was with something of a shock that I noticed a pretty girl at church on Sunday with a velvet toque, round which was pinned a symmetrical row of butterflies. The little creatures had been artistically mounted and presented the appearance of having been killed on the hat, an appearance from which their brilliant prettiness was quite insufficient to remove the painful impression. They were of all colors, and you could almost fancy their little wings were still quivering.—London Life.

—The town of San Jose, Cal., has been greatly excited by the discovery of three Chinese lepers in a small shanty near the railroad depot, where almost all the washing done by the Chinamen in town is performed. The lepers have been secluded here for some three years. One of them, although in an advanced stage of the disease, has been begging at night on the streets of the city. The shanty has been used by the Chinamen as a resort for lepers, although nothing but shelter was given the poor wretches, and how they lived is a mystery.

Has been acquired by candid, honest dealing and years of successful practice.

My practice, not one of experiment, but founded on the laws of Nature, with years of experience and evidence to sustain it, does not tear down, make sick to make well; no harsh treatment, no trifling, no flattering. We know the cause and the remedy needed; no guess work, but knowledge gained by years of experience in the treatment of Chronic Diseases exclusively.

No encouragement without a prospect. Cling to our opinions, reasonable in our charges, claim not to know everything or cure everybody, but do cure by the remedy needed, and common sense. We invite the sick, no matter what their ailment, to call and investigate before they abandon hope, make interrogations and decide for themselves. It will cost nothing as consultation is free. ## A POPULAR TONIC.

For Weak Lungs and Consumption. No preparation ever introduced to the American public for the relief and cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throats, Debilitated Constitutions, Weakness of the Lungs, or Consumption so the incipient or advanced stages of the disease, has ever been so widely and so rapidly accepted by the people as the celebrated "Tolu, Rock and Rye." The repeated and continued sales of the article everywhere are the best evidence of its real merits. Letters and testimonials from every quarter of the country, attesting the stimulating and healthful effects, and in possession of the proprietors, can be added to convince the most skeptical reader of its intrinsic virtues. Further commendation is unnecessary and superfluous, as a trial of this article, having a pleasant taste and agreeable flavor, will satisfy all those who are afflicted or pining away with pulmonary weakness of the relief to be secured by the use of Tolu, Rock and Rye. —Chicago Times.

BRIEFLETS.

—There will be prayer meetings in all the churches, this evening.

—One year ago this morning the thermometer stood two degrees below zero.

—Marshal Hogan found both the "Pats" on a drunk last evening and took them to the cooler.

—The Hasenwinkle Ideals will play "Led Astray," on Tuesday next instead of "Hunchback," as previously announced.

—Ten ladies and thirty-one gentlemen can find documents addressed to them at the postoffice—for particulars see our advertising columns.

—Some young folks were returning from a dance out in the country at three o'clock this morning, when the wagon upset, throwing the occupants out, and dislocating the right elbow of Miss Mary Goegehan.

—Hogboom & Atwood will use a steam engine at their ice house this season, in storing away the ice blocks in place of the horse power heretofore in use. They are getting their engine ready for use this afternoon.

—The family of the late William C. Lowber desire through the Gazette, to sincerely thank the many friends who so kindly and generously rendered their assistance during the illness and at the death of Mr. Lowber.

—Dr. Palmer was called to Evansville yesterday, to remove a large tumor from the breast of Mrs. H. Hatfield, of that village. She is in excellent condition, considering the character of the operation, and will rapidly recover.

—All children in Beloit are compelled to be vaccinated before they can go to school. Dr. Strong, during the last ten days has vaccinated between 600 and 800 people. On Tuesday afternoon, he vaccinated 140. This story we get from the Free Press, but it may be true nevertheless.

—The committee on claims of the county board of supervisors have examined claims, against the county, of various sums, amounting in the aggregate to $4,622.50; the same committee recommending the payment of $2,603.55 of that amount; quite a cut down for one session of the board.

—Patsy Griffin and Pat Sheridan were before the bar of the municipal court this afternoon, upon a charge of drunkenness, but under a solemn promise that they would take the pledge and go to work, Judge Patten withheld sentence and will hold their case open for a few days, to give them a chance to "brace up."

—It is not yet known whether the Mack murder case will be re-tried this winter or not. District Attorney Sale is anxious to dispose of the matter and would like to call it for trial at the next term of the Jefferson county Circuit Court which meets about the middle of February, if the witness for the prosecution can be found. If the witnesses needed can not be subpoenaed, the case will then go over to the next term of the court.

—A bloody scene was enacted in the vestibule of the postoffice this afternoon in which two dogs were the chief actors, and it is needless to say that they had a large audience. A savage bull-dog pitched onto a small dog, and despite the efforts of the crowd the former had such a powerful grip on the latter that they could not be separated for some time, and then it was not done until some one gave the bull-dog a severe stab in the hip and in the side which literally made the floor a pool of blood. They were then separated and the bull-dog dragged onto the bridge and thrown into the river.

—Chairman J. C. Metcalf, of the county board of supervisors, and his estimable wife, entertained the members of the board of supervisors, and the county officers, at their residence in the first ward last evening. By invitations of the host, nearly all the supervisors and county officials accepted the cordial invitation, and put in an early appearance, each being cordially received and welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf. The evening was spent in social conversations, interesting games, and music; a bountiful supply of refreshments, the best the season affords, were served at the proper time, and all agree with County Clerk Morgan in reporting that they "had a right jolly, pleasant evening."

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS.

The thermometer this morning at 7 o'clock stood at zero, and at 1 o'clock this afternoon at 26 degrees above. Clear.

For the corresponding time last year the thermometer stood 2 degrees below and 18 degrees above.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18, 1 a. m.—The following are the indications for to-day:

Upper Lake Region—Fair weather rising followed by falling barometer westerly to southerly winds, nearly stationary temperature.

"A CELEBRATED CASE."

The Hasenwinkle Ideals will produce this popular play at Myers' Opera house next Monday evening. As to what this company can do with this much talked of drama, we quote from the Ogden Herald:

"A large audience was present at the Union Opera house, last evening, to see the Hasenwinkle Ideals in this excellent play. The plot is good and the finest effect was given to the piece by the company. Miss Tillie Stephany, as 'Madeline' in the prologue, and as 'Adrienne' in the play, excites the strongest sympathy of the audience. Mr. Hasenwinkle sustained the good reputation that he has gained with the theatre-goers of Ogden, in his excellent personation of 'Jean Renaud,' the innocent convict. As a whole, the company is a good one—among the best that have visited this city."

Experientia Docet.

We must tell some men a great deal to teach them a little, but the knowledge of the curative properties of SPRING BLOSSOM in cases of sick headache, indigestion, and biliousness is bought by experience. Price 50 cents, trial bottles 10 cents.

CHIEF ENGINEERS.

For the purpose of setting matters right, and correcting a statement made by the alderman from the 5th ward, at the meeting of the council last night, that the council had elected the Chief Engineer of the fire department a great many times, and that the council could choose whom they pleased, we have taken pains to go through the records in the city clerk's office and publish the facts as recorded by the clerk. In this list of officers, the common council elected just one chief, viz: John T. Wilcox, and at the same time elected John Schickler first assistant and Thomas Hemmingsway second assistant. In 1874 Colonel Britton resigned the position of chief, and on the recommendation of the department, Dr. J. W. St. John was confirmed to that office. We publish the list without further comment, simply stating that at one time when the council had the power to elect, they voluntarily asked the companies to meet and nominate suitable persons for the several positions, which they did and they were confirmed. We hope the list will be of interest, as a matter of public reference;

PERSONAL.

—Mr. Will Bowen, of Dakota, is in the city.

—Mr. Joseph A. Farnsworth, father of Isaac Farnsworth, is lying at the point of death.

—The friends of Mr. Joseph Cook are very observant, and highly pleased at the reports of his success.

—Mr. Wm. H. Tallman was on the wrecked train out of Chicago on Monday night, but escaped unhurt.

—Mrs. Humphrey, wife of Dr. H. S. Humphrey, left for Milwaukee to-day, to be with her sister, who is dangerously ill in that city.

—Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Dearborn, of La Cygne, Kansas, returned home to-day. They have been spending some time in the city visiting their daughter, Mrs. Judge A. P. Prichard.

—Mr. John Chadwick, of Monroe, is in the city to-day, and a guest at the Myers' house. Mr. Chadwick is the owner of a little flock of sheep now grazing in Colorado, and which numbers 13,000 head.

—Mr. K. J. Bemis, who formerly clerked in the store of W. G. Wheelock, of this city, is a director and a stockholder in the Royal Pottery company, of Hamilton, Ontario, of which the capital stock is $50,000.

THE AMENDED CHARTER.

The common council convened in special session, last evening, by call of the Mayor, His Honor occupying the chair, and all the aldermen being in their seats except Ald. Hawes, Hemming and Norris.

The council adopted a resolution dispensing with all regular business, and taking up the charter proceeded to consider the same, after passing a motion allowing the citizens to participate at will discussing the merits and demerits of the proposed changes.

City Attorney Hyzer assisted the clerk in reading the charter, and explained fully all the proposed amendments, which, in the main were the re-compilation and classification of the various amendments since the last general revision, and placing them in their proper order. The only really radical changes are in relation to the street Commissioner, which takes the appointment of that officer away from the Mayor and placing it in the hands of the Council, with the same law, in regard to pay and tenure of office, as governs the city marshal; the board of health, which will consist of the Mayor, the senior alderman of each ward, and one physician, who shall be elected by the council, and designated the Health Officer, and who shall be allowed such compensation for his services as such health officer as the council may provide; the fixing of the limitation of the fire department fund to $7,000 instead of $5,000, and the gas fund to $3,500 instead of $2,500. But very little interest was manifested in the meeting, and the members of the council had their own way, but very few of the citizens present making any remarks, and those very brief. The charter will be left in the hands of the city attorney until the next meeting of the council, and that gentleman will receive any suggestions or amendments which may be offered by citizens and report them to the council next Wednesday evening, when they will be considered, and the amended charter sent to Madison to be acted upon by the Legislature.

THE COUNTY BOARD.

The board met at 9:30 this morning, Chairman Metcalf presiding, the gavel, all the members being present except Allen, Baker, Conley, Fisher, and Miller.

The journal of yesterday was read and approved.

Mr. Brownell offered a resolution requesting the Legislature to establish a uniform rule for taxing costs for attendance of officers with prisoners in courts held by justices of the peace, and in other courts having the same criminal jurisdiction; which was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Sherman, the Clerk was directed to publish in the proceedings of the county board, the law for the prevention of the spread of noxious weeds.

On motion of Mr. Slaymaker, the telephone resolution of yesterday was reconsidered, and the whole matter was left with the building committee to settle with certain instructions.

Mr. Brownell offered a resolution fixing the fees of jurors in certain cases which was adopted.

Mr. McIntyre, from the committee on claims, made a lengthy report concerning the claims against the county, and recommending the allowance of bills to the amount of $2,603.55, from a total amount of claims of $4,622.50; which was adopted.

The remainder of the forenoon was spent in the consideration of the bills rejected by the committee on claims, as reported by them without recommendation, some of which were allowed; others were referred back for further investigation, while others were allowed with certain deductions; among them were quite a number from the sheriff. The board then adjourned until 2 o'clock.

The board this afternoon finished up the business of disposing of the report of the committee on claims; the postponing of several resolutions; the adoption of a vote of thanks to the chairman of the board and the clerk.

The board, after appropriate speeches from the Chairman, the clerk, Mr. Keeler (the senior member of the board) and friendly expressions of friendship from the members generally, adjourned sine die.

THE LAST WORD.

In reproducing the item in the Gazette of Tuesday regarding the refusal of the Congregational church in Beloit to John B. Gough, the Free Press says:

The Gazette is laboring under a mistake. Not only did the trustees of the First Congregational church not refuse to open that church to Mr. Gough, but they offered to give the use of the church, warmed and lighted, free of charge, provided the net profits of the lecture were to be for the benefit of some benevolent object. They did refuse to rent the church to be used for Mr. Gough's lecture, as a purely private money-making speculation. That is all. Will the Gazette please make the correction?

As Mr. J. B. Dow, who is personally responsible for the appearance of Mr. Gough in Beloit, publishes a card in the Free Press in which he denies any such "free offer," of the church, and inasmuch as the trustees of the church have taken no exception to this denial, the Gazette does not feel justified in making the correction prayed for by the Free Press. It is hoped that Mr. Gough will draw a large house and that his masterly lecture on the great evil of the day will do good. And here endeth the matter.
